

TWO BRAND NEW SPECIAL STAGES FOR AEROMIL PACIFIC CLASSIC ADELAIDE

23 August 2007

The addition of two exciting new special stages will boost the 2007 Aeromil Pacific Classic Adelaide, adding to competitor and spectator enjoyment.

The two stages are both scheduled for the second day of competition on Friday 23 November and are certain to please all competitors.

Mt Compass is a 5.5km special stage described as a more traditional Classic Adelaide stage, technically challenging and tight, with some free flowing corners that are sure to please the Porsche crews.

The other addition to the 2007 stages, Carrickalinga, although difficult to pronounce will be easy to read, its 7.5km special length filled with free flowing, fast and easy to read corners with some moderate straights and is certain to be a favourite with the big horsepower entrants.

Aeromil Pacific Classic Adelaide clerk of course, Rob Hemmings has been overseeing the introduction of both new special stages and admits both are sure to have competitors smiling.

“Mt Compass is just what you expect at Classic Adelaide, with some fabulous challenging corners,” said Hemmings.

“Carrickalinga is a bit different for Classic Adelaide, with some easy to read corners that can be attacked at some speed,” Hemmings said.

“Overall, I think both stages will add enormously to the event and prove to be a lot of fun for drivers,” said Hemmings.

“Classic Adelaide’s 33 closed road stages over four days, will provide plenty of entertainment for competitors and fans,” added Hemmings.

The Aeromil Pacific Classic Adelaide gets underway on Wednesday 21st November with the prologue over two laps of a shortened version of the old Adelaide Grand Prix circuit around Victoria Park.

Official times from the 3.1 km Prologue will provide the seeding for the event proper, which gets underway on Thursday morning.

Day one of the rally will take crews into the Barossa Valley with day two heading down the Fleurieu Peninsula, while day three snakes around the Adelaide Hills and the final day on Sunday heads into the picturesque McLaren Vales before the finish in central Adelaide on Sunday afternoon.

The rally covers just over 1000 kilometres in total with more than 250 competitive kilometres over 33 closed road special stages.
